Origins During World War II

Camp Rilea was established in 1941 as part of the United States' rapid military expansion following the attack on Pearl Harbor. Originally known as the Oregon Maneuver Area, it served primarily as a training ground for soldiers preparing for deployment overseas. The site was selected due to its strategic location, expansive terrain, and proximity to Portland and other logistical hubs. During its early years, Camp Rilea hosted thousands of troops for basic training, artillery exercises, and logistical drills. The infrastructure was modest but rapidly expanded to accommodate the increasing number of soldiers. The camp's role during World War II was critical in preparing the home front's military force, and its facilities saw continuous upgrades over the subsequent decades.
